

Every dealership relies on multiple systems to keep business moving. The challenge isn't having the right technology, it's making sure every system works together. By connecting your dealership into a single intelligent ecosystem, information flows automatically between people, platforms and partners, reducing manual processes, improving accuracy and helping your team work more efficiently.

Because when everything is connected, everyone works smarter.

ONE PLATFORM. CONNECTED TO EVERYTHING.

CONNECTED FROM LEAD TO SETTLEMENT.

The youX platform removes the need to re-enter information across multiple systems. Applications, customer information, lender submissions, approvals and reporting flow through one connected platform - helping reduce administration, minimise errors and accelerate every stage of the finance journey.

With real-time integrations and intelligent automation working quietly in the background, your team spends less time moving information and more time building customer relationships.

BUILT AROUND THE WAY DEALERSHIPS WORK.

We understand every dealership is different. That's why technology should adapt to your business - not force your business to adapt to technology.

By connecting your systems into a single ecosystem, you eliminate repetitive manual tasks, reduce mistakes and create a smoother experience for both your team and your customers.

Because when information flows naturally, people spend more time with customers - and less time managing systems.

BEHIND THE PLATFORM: CONNECTIVITY

For Simon, connectivity isn't about APIs or linking systems. It's about removing friction so information flows naturally, helping dealerships work more efficiently and giving their people more time to focus on customers.

Hear Simon explain why the best technology is the technology people stop noticing - because everything simply works.

Simon Penhaligon
Chief Executive Officer

WATCH THE VIDEO

youX

youX

EVERYTHING WORKS BETTER
WHEN EVERYTHING
WORKS TOGETHER

Connect your dealerships with technology that removes friction, streamlines processes and keeps information moving seamlessly.

Disclaimer: Information contained in this brochure is correct at the time of publication and is provided for general information purposes only. Features, functionality and product specifications are subject to change without notice. Integration availability may vary depending on third-party systems and configurations. Images are for illustrative purposes only.

www.youxpowered.com.au